GALLERY PROMENADE

Gallery Promenade

September 27—November 16, 2019

Gallery Promenade draws residents and visitors into galleries and museums to help boost the public's awareness of the businesses that work daily to promote the local art scene. The Artisans Gallery will host an opening reception for their multi media exhibition Friday, September 27 at 5-9pm at Historic City Hall. The group is comprised of more than 20 well known local artists offering an array of ceramics, sculptures, jewelry, paintings and much more. All works will be available for purchase.

Louisiana Illustrators

October 18, 2019—November 30, 2019

A collection from The Southwest Louisiana Children's Book Writers and Illustrators Guild. Organized by Tommie Townsley of Alley-Gator Book Bites, an independent children's book publishing company located in Lake Charles.

"Who Are You in the Dark" by Lyd Walls

November 29, 2019—January 25, 2020

In this series, Walls unearths deep truths about herself, people around her, and ultimately humanity. Importance is given to create disproportionate nudes that struggle to take form. The body is unsure—posing without purpose or direction but present nonetheless. Each piece tells a story of discovery, fear, elation and acceptance.

The Global Language of Headwear: Cultural Identity, Rites of Passage, and Spirituality

November 1—December 31, 2019

Explores the vital role of ceremonial headwear throughout diverse cultural customs, beliefs, and rituals. Featuring approximately 89 hats and headdresses from 43 different countries spanning five continents. The exhibition colorfully demonstrates that each distinct society can be viewed through a similar lens of rites of passage, heritage, and identity. The traveling tour was organized by International Arts & Artists.

American Visionary: John F. Kennedy's Life and Times

January 10—March 28, 2020

This exhibition brings together seventy-seven images culled from the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library, Getty Images, private collections, and the Kennedy family archives. The dramatic scope of Kennedy's life is evident in these photographs—from his first congressional bid as a decorated war hero in 1946, his fairytale marriage to Jacqueline Bouvier in 1953, his run for the White House in 1960 and role as commander in chief, to the tragedy of his death in Dallas in 1963. These images remain as indelible evidence of John Kennedy's personal charisma and political accomplishments.

A New Moon Rises: National Air and Space Museum

April 10—June 20, 2020

Our Moon is a surprisingly dynamic place. New impact craters are being formed. Volcanic activity, once thought long extinct, may have happened in the recent past. The crust has recently fractured from slow interior cooling and shrinking of the Moon. It may still be shrinking today. A New Moon Rises showcases those breathtaking images from Apollo landing sites to majestic mountains that rise out of the darkness of the lunar poles. The 61 large prints presented in this exhibition reveal a celestial neighbor that is surprisingly dynamic, full of grandeur and wonder.
